Customer Reviews

Shame on me; I fell for a scam. I was surprised that this book had no "Look Inside" button but given all the rave reviews and the low price I just clicked the Buy button and moved on. Upon receiving it, I find it's nothing more than a tiny pamphlet with a pretty cover. The contents consist of 101 numbered paragraphs with the kind of descriptions that you would find on the back of any decent tourist map. There is no apparent order to these paragraphs, no photos, no maps, or any other content. The book doesn't even have page numbers. So what about all those rave reviews? There is no way I can know for certain, but all the evidence points to paid shills. Here are the clues: (1) A useless book with all 5-star reviews and not a single negative comment is suspicious to begin with. Of course, there are just enough 4-star reviews to give just a hint of credibility. (2) All of the reviews appear to be written by people who are not native speakers of English. Read a few and you'll see what I mean: missing articles, adjective-noun pairs that no English speaker would combine, and other clues abound. (3) None of the reviews has any real content. All of them could have been written without reading much more than the title. Yes, they all ordered the book so they are all Verified Purchases, but there is no suggestion in the reviews that the books were ever opened. (4) Every one of the reviewers has the profile of a shill. Each of them has given only 5-star reviews to the books they reviewed, with just enough 4-star reviews to make them appear to be actual reviewers. All of their reviews follow the same pattern: universal praise in vague generalities that give no hint of comprehension or evaluation of the content. There are more clues, but that should be enough to convince you to avoid this book. If you do buy it, please leave an honest review, whether you like it or not, to help all of us combat the scamming that is now taking place on .

There are lots of amazing place one must visit and enjoy and I think if you have interest in the stories behind the caves and glow worms, this museum is the best place to go. Here, you will learn how caves are formed and sustained, the differences in ecosystems, and the cultivation of the local glow worms. There is no entrance fee for most of the expeditions in the museum. It was interesting to know that Wellington is New Zealand's capital city and the third most populous urban area of the country.

It seems like 14 days will be hardly enough time to spend in NZ after drooling over all there is to do. Has a lot of specific information about New Zealand and I learned about places to see. It was helpful to focus on the areas we are going to. However, it would be more useful if we could take it with us, but we can't since it's a library book. We are trying to travel light, which may hamper our info we have while on the trip.
